Clark County Parks

CLASSIFICATION OF PARK AREAS

Neighborhood parks provide basic recreation opportunities (e.g. play areas or trails), and preserve open space for nearby residents. Located within walking and bicycling distance of most users, these parks are generally three to five acres in size and primarily serve residents within a half-mile radius.

Community parks are usually 20 to 100 acres in size and generally serve residents from a one to three mile service area. They have additional amenities such as restrooms and parking lots and may include sports fields.

Regional parks are recreational areas, usually larger than 50 acres in size that provide opportunities for diverse recreational activities. Facilities may include sports fields, extensive trail systems, or large picnic areas.

Natural areas and open space are primarily undeveloped spaces, which are managed for both their natural, ecological value and for light-impact recreational use

HOW ARE PARKS FUNDED?

Clark County primarily relies on Park Impact Fees (PIF) to buy and develop land for parks. PIF are collected when new residential housing is built. The Greater Vancouver area is divided into 10 park districts, and PIF must be spent within the district in which they are collected.

The unincorporated area of Clark County also passed a bond in 2005 to support ongoing maintenance of parks. A park is developed when the county owns the land, has sufficient funds to pay for construction and has ongoing revenue to maintain the park. For more info:

Park Type	Owned (ac.)	Developed (ac.)

DOES IT COST TO USE A PARK?

Park use is FREE; although daily parking fees are collected year-round at four regional parks; Frenchman's Bar, Lewisville, Salmon Creek / Kline Pond and Vancouver Lake.

Parking fees are $2 for motorcycles, $3 for cars, $6 for cars with trailers and $8 for buses or motor homes. Frequent users can purchase an annual pass see website for details:
