Learn about the Value of Engagement

The number of older adults will dramatically increase over the next 10 years. Transforming how we think about the value of an aging population and how communities position themselves to harness the tremendous resource older adults provide, will be beneficial for all.

Brinda Wood, with Goodwill Industries will talk about how older adult's experience and wisdom can provide a positive and powerful impact. Colleen Kuhn, of the Human Services Council will discuss how staying engaged improves senior's quality of life. Justin Rossman, with New Seasons Market will share what New Seasons is doing to reach and engage older adults and how it benefits their business.
